

Target Company Session

Identifying companies where you want to work can be one of the most challenging parts of the job search. Finding a job that fits your skills and suits your needs is even harder. Getting around all the gatekeepers and into direct contact with the hiring manager is like capturing the holy grail.

We created the Target Company Session to solve all these problems.

During this session, we will identify 15-20 companies where Rob has senior executive contacts. When open roles are available, you will jump to the front of the line to be interviewed. There is no time limit on this opportunity.

The one-time cost for all this killer access is $500. Payment via Venmo or PayPal is due two business days before your session.

Book now: Allie@RobBarnettMedia.com